

Source: www.insitu.com Web site on September 09, 2010

Living in the Gorge

One of the undeniable and yet unquantifiable benefits of working at Insitu is living in the Columbia River Gorge. There's nothing quite like driving to work with a view of the Columbia River, Mt. Hood, and Mt. Adams, and breathing in the fresh air as you go. The most traffic we generally see is the occasional three to five car back-up going over the Hood River Bridge at "rush hour". If you are looking for things to do and places to eat, use the Visiting INSITU tab on the left. You will also find information on the area, local real estate, and the public schools. We hope you like what you see!