

ALISON FADDIS

Vice President, Flight Operations

M.B.A., University of Washington Foster School of Business

B.A. Economics, College of the Holy Cross

Ali Faddis oversees the Flight Operations team, which is comprised of Deployed Operations, UAS Training, Aviation Safety, and Aviation Operations. This operational team contributes to Insitu's success by providing service to all domestic and international customers, and supporting product development and delivery efforts.

Prior to joining the Insitu team in 2019, Ali had an eighteen year career with Horizon Air, the regional arm of Alaska Air Group. She is a certified Airline Transport Pilot, starting her career as a pilot for the airline before holding leadership roles in operations, training, and compliance. During her career at Horizon, she held the FAA-required positions of Director of Operations and Chief Pilot.

Ali earned her B.A. in Economics from the College of the Holy Cross and her M.B.A. from University of Washington Foster School of Business.

Ali serves on the Board of Directors for Angel Flight West, a non-profit organization that arranges air travel for individuals with serious medical conditions and other needs, enabling them to receive medical treatment that may otherwise be inaccessible because of financial, medical, or geographic limitations.