B.S. Education, Florida State University

Curt Chesnutt is Vice President of Global Growth for Insitu, where he leads a team supporting Global Sales and Marketing and Enterprise Strategy for the company's defense and commercial businesses. Most recently, Curt led Insitu's business development for the International Defense and Security marketplace. Prior to rejoining the Insitu team in May 2017, Curt worked as the Vice President of Business Development and International Business for Aerovironment, Inc. based in Simi-Valley Ca.

From 2009-2013 Curt held a number of positions at Insitu and departed as Insitu's Senior Vice President of ScanEagle Programs. During this period, he oversaw the ScanEagle product line and the execution of associated service and acquisition contracts. Curt first came to Insitu from Scientific Applications International Corporation (SAIC), where he was a Senior Project Manager and business process mentor to U.S. Navy leadership. Before joining the private sector, Curt served 26 years as an officer and aviator in the U.S. Navy. Rising to the rank of Captain, he accumulated more than 3,000 flight hours and served in a host of demanding billets including Operational and Major command at sea.

Curt earned a Master of Science in Public Administration with an emphasis in national resource management from the Dwight D. Eisenhower School for National Security and Resource Strategy and a Bachelor of Science in Education from Florida State University. Additionally, he was a fellow at both the R. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (Singapore) and the Asia-Pacific Center for Security in Hawaii.
